

National Chung Hsing University Doctoral Program in Data Science and Industrial Analytics Regulations Governing Direct-entry to Doctoral Degree Programs

June 10, 2020 Formulated by the Program Meeting

July 20, 2020 Amended by the Program Meeting

Article 1 Applicants must meet the qualifications set by the Ministry of Education and the University (e.g., having an average of 85 or above and ranking within the top one-third of their respective classes in their first year of study).

Article 2 Applicants must participate in an oral examination, and whether they can pass the examination will be determined by Program Meeting members. Approval requires a majority vote of the members present; the application shall then be submitted by the Program to the Office of Academic Affairs and the Ministry of Education for finalization.

Note: First-year graduate students with an overall average of 85 or above and who rank within the top one-third of their groups in the first semester may apply to the Program director by April 30 each year.
